Item from the Daily Log - 18 December 1952

On 11 October 1952 there was referred to this office a registered letter addressed to the Director from one Titus de Bobula requesting the intercession of this Agency in a private matter between Mr. de Bobula and an employee of CIA, Miss [REDACTED], arising from a transaction with respect to a tract of West Virginia land. We undertook to investigate the matter and to date have discovered nothing reflecting discredit upon our employee. As far as we are able to tell, Miss [REDACTED] through her gratuitous actions, is involved with a litigious crank. We replied to Mr. de Bobula's first letter stating that our investigation showed a certain basic misunderstanding of a purely private nature in which CIA could not concern itself. Since that time we have received several further letters from Mr. de Bobula, in vein similar to the first, becoming progressively more insulting to CIA. We have firmly informed him that we wish to have nothing further to do with the matter. The latest development is that Mr. de Bobula has sued out a criminal complaint against Miss [REDACTED] and a Mr. [REDACTED], not an employee, who is also involved. We understand that his complaint relates to the manner in which title to the West Virginia land was acquired by Miss [REDACTED]. We have put Miss [REDACTED] in touch with counsel, and have indicated our interest to help where we reasonably can.
